

Lindbergh Lands at Miami, Silent on Engagement

Arrives From Havana Completing His Central American Airmail Trip—Refuses to Discuss Engagement to Anne Spencer Morrow—Mexicans Hope Marriage Will Take Place in Mexico City.

Miami, Fla., Feb. 13 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here at 11 a. m. E. S. T., today from Havana completing his Central American airmail trip.

The noted aviator left Havana at 11 a. m. and skirted the lower end of the peninsula some distance away from Key West for a more direct route. Although he encountered a mile head wind on the last leg of his flight and the skies here were overcast when he arrived, Lindbergh had had good weather for most of the journey.

The companion plane of Raymond Merrill which made the flight with him, was not in sight when Lindbergh landed.

At Havana Lindbergh refused to discuss the engagement. "I will make my remarks to aviation," he said in a laconic statement, after landing late from Belize, Honduras, announced loitering and difficulty in takeoff from a refueling place given by the colonel as reasons for the delay, which had caused fears might be down in the Caribbean. In confining his remarks to aviation at Havana, he outlined a flight schedule which some saw as affording an opportunity for a Mexico City trip.

Tomorrow he will fly from Miami to New York, departing soon thereafter on a transcontinental flight to Los Angeles. At Los Angeles he would be within a day's aerial ride of Mexico City, where Miss Morrow, with her mother, arrived yesterday.

Hope For Marriage in Mexico. Mexico City, Feb. 13 (AP).—Mexicans hoped today that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, daughter of Ambassador Wright W. Morrow, would be married in this country's capital. It was said that the romance of the famous aviator and the heiress began. They met here and frequently were together. Miss Morrow made several flights with her future husband, piloting the machine.

The following statement was issued at the American embassy last night: "Ambassador and Mrs. Morrow have announced the engagement of their daughter, Anne Spencer Morrow, to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh."

Efforts to have the ambassador elaborate on the statement were unavailing. He was asked the problem time and place of the marriage, but persisted in a smiling silence, when only finally with the remark: "All you can say on such points are guess work. I think your guess will be good if you say the date is not yet fixed."

News of the engagement—which had been often rumored—spread quickly over the city and everywhere was presumed that the wedding would take place in this capital. At June was given in usually authoritative sources as the time.

Former President Calles, who welcomed Colonel Lindbergh at Valadon Field at the completion of his trip from Washington, said: "This is a great pleasure to me. As you know I am very fond of both these young people. As Mexico has been the scene of their romance I sincerely hope they will be married in this country."

Certainly their own people could hold them nearer their hearts and wish them more happiness than Mexicans. These two families of these young people are very dear to us. They have our best wishes for, and I know they will have, a happy married life."

Senora Ernestina Calles Robinson, daughter of the ex-president, and friend of Miss Morrow, was especially happy over the engagement. "I do you so," she remarked.

Miss Morrow, who arrived with her mother yesterday from the United States, after a seventeen-hour delay at the scene of the dynamiting of the presidential special Sunday in Guanajuato, was extended felicitation by a small group of intimates who dined at the embassy last night.

Enroute to Mexico City Miss Morrow and her mother stopped at St. Louis and after special arrangements had been made visited the collection of Lindbergh air trophies there.

Mexicans Look for Two Visits. In view of the announcement of the engagement Mexicans look for two visits shortly. One from Colonel Lindbergh himself, and the other from his mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh. Lindbergh left Constantinople five days ago, where she taught chemistry in the American College, for the United States. It is presumed that somewhat early return was made in view of her son's approaching marriage.

Both Mrs. Lindbergh and her son were widely known in Mexico. She had flown to this capital as guest of Mrs. Morrow in December, 1927. Her son was here after completing

Described as An Ideal Mate

Miss Morrow and Colonel Lindbergh are of the Old-fashioned Type as Contrasted to the Modern Flapper—Need Not Worry About Wolf at the Door.

New York, Feb. 13 (AP).—Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, the future Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, was described by friends today as an ideal mate for the flying Colonel.

Both are of the old-fashioned type, as contrasted to the modern flapper and the slick-haired youth. But Miss Morrow is not adverse to a bit of fun and to her intimates is known as a laughing frolicsome young woman, just as "Slim" Lindbergh in his mail flying days was known for his practical jokes and harmless horseplay.

Born in Englewood, N. J., a fashionable suburb across the Hudson from New York, Miss Morrow is 22 years old, five feet, five inches tall, has large brown eyes and dark brown unobbed hair. The Colonel is 27 years old, more than six feet tall and a blonde. Both are Presbyterians.

At Smith College, Northampton, Mass., from which she was graduated last year, Miss Morrow was one of the most popular girls of her class. Besides showing a decided aptitude in her studies, she was prominent in many social and extra curricular activities.

She wrote the Ivy Day song for Phi Kappa and a Senior Song as well. She was a member of the Manuscript Club, the International Relations Club, the Alpha Fraternity and was an usher at the Junior Prom. Her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Cutter Morrow, is a trustee of the college.

Although known as a studious young woman, Anne is less so than her sister, Elizabeth, a few years her elder, who is a teacher at the exclusive Dwight School for Girls at Englewood. Anne is said by friends to be fond of attractive clothes and to have a greater interest in people than books.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh need not worry about the wolf at the door. The Lone Eagle hopped to fortune as well as fame when he made his flight to Paris, although he has declined many offers of a financial nature. And Mr. Morrow was a partner in J. P. Morgan and Company before he became Ambassador.

Three Prospectors Burned to Death

Sioux Lookout, Man., Feb. 13 (AP).—Trapped by flames in their tiny cabin at Narrow Woman Lake, Portage, three prospectors were burned to death. Four dogs, chained to the outside of the buildings, also perished.

News of the tragedy was brought here by airplane. The terrified bark of the dogs roused a man in a shack some distance away, but due to the darkness he was unable to rescue either the men or the dogs.

ONE HELD, ANOTHER SOUGHT, FOLLOWING PISTOL DUEL

General, N. Y., Feb. 13 (AP).—One man was held and another sought by police today after a midnight pistol duel in Exchange street following the rifling of a safe in the Temple Theatre here.

Officer William Yerg, investigating a noise from the theatre office, entered the theatre and was greeted by a fusillade from one of the men escaping. The patrolman returned the fire without result. James Redeen, 35, was arrested an hour later as a suspect. A bag containing $500 in cash was found later in an alley near the theatre.

News of his flight from Washington, Colonel Lindbergh during his stay received a reception probably surpassing that ever before accorded an American in Mexico. The welcome to his mother was hardly less cordial.

Miss Morrow, Colonel Lindbergh's fiancée, is known to Mexicans as a quiet home loving girl of 22, who has spent much of her time here since graduation last year from Smith College, Northampton, Mass. She is a brunette and pretty. She has a broad interest in aviation, and world affairs generally. Her character and interests are said to be such as will be round out the hitherto one-sided life of her fiancé.

She is five years younger than Colonel Lindbergh, who recently celebrated his 27th birthday with a flight inaugurating the United States-Central American airmail service.

Coolidge Signs Cruiser Bill

President Gives Approval In Spite of The Measure's Character Requiring That All Vessels Be Laid Down By July 1, 1931.

Washington, Feb. 13 (AP).—President Coolidge today signed the naval building bill calling for the construction of 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier.

The president's approval was given in spite of the measure's clause requiring that all the vessels be laid down by July 1, 1931, which he had opposed. His opposition to this provision was based on the view that it called for expenditures at future dates with no advance knowledge as to the condition of the treasury when they would be made.

In addition to providing for the construction of the vessels, the measure calls for an international agreement establishing the rights of neutrals at sea in time of war, under an amendment sponsored by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee and Senator Reed of Missouri.

The President affixed his signature to the measure, the last major legislative project of his administration, a few minutes after he had conferred with congressional leaders on expenditures which must be made under it.

He conferred with Senators Curtis and Robinson, majority and minority leaders of the Senate; Chairman Hale of the Senate Naval Committee; Speaker Longworth, Representatives Tilton and Garrett, Republican and Democratic leaders of the House, and Chairman Snell of the House Rules Committee.

Less than 10 minutes after the meeting had dispersed, Coolidge approved the bill without ceremony. Coolidge was alone in his office at the time, and announcement that the measure had been signed was made by his secretary, Everett Sanders.

The President has received recommendations from the Budget Bureau that from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 be made available for work on the cruisers during the fiscal year 1929-1930, with a small amount provided for the present fiscal year.

Under the measure five cruisers are to be laid down in each of the three fiscal years 1929, 1930, and 1931. In addition, the construction of an aircraft carrier is authorized, to be begun prior to July 1, 1931.

HEAVY STORM DELAYS RESCUE OF JAPANESE CREW

Dutch Harbor, Alaska, Feb. 13 (AP).—The Japanese steamer Nankoh Maru hovered today off the rock bound Aleutian Islands fighting a heavy storm as it waited an opportunity to rescue 25 men aboard the doomed Japanese freighter Meiyo Maru.

Not far away a third Japanese vessel, the Alloway, with one crew member of her crew aboard, was being driven toward destruction on the rocks.

The Nankoh Maru reached the Meiyo Maru late yesterday, several hours after the latter had broadcast weak signals that she was pounding to pieces on the rocks of Ugamak Island. Because of heavy seas the rescue vessel was unable to assist her but stood by, waiting for the storm to abate.

Thirty-three members of the crew of the Alloway were picked up in lifeboats by the steamer Montauk yesterday after an unsuccessful five-day fight against the storm to tow the Alloway to Dutch Harbor. When the tow line broke and the disabled vessel began heading for the rocks of Unimak Pass the Montauk began to back away. The helpless ship crashed into the Montauk but the latter vessel made a safe getaway, while all except one member of the Alloway's crew took to lifeboats.

The crew member of the Alloway's crew, a man named Pooley, refused to leave the doomed freighter. The Alloway's dragging anchors caught on a rock a few yards off shore and at last report she was holding there with Pooley still aboard.

The Montauk reported that the anchor would soon give and that the Alloway doubtless would be pounded to pieces. The captain of the Montauk declared he would not endanger his own ship further in an attempt to take Pooley from the vessel. Pooley's companions said he had fought them when they tried to take him into a life boat.

KNIFE WORKERS DECLINE CUT IN WAGES; PLANT TO CLOSE

Because employees of the New York Knife Company of Walden have refused to accept a cut of 10 per cent in wages, the plant will be closed down within the next two or three weeks as soon as the materials on hand are used up. Whether the plant will close indefinitely or will cease to do business in the pocket and table cutlery lines, is not known.

The management recently asked the employees to accept a cut in wages, maintaining that it was necessary to obtain the cut to compete with other concerns.

Fech's Condition Improved. Paris, Feb. 13 (AP).—Condition of Marshal Fech showed a definite improvement this morning, his physicians, Drs. Davesiere and Degennes, said after a half hour's visit with their patient. The greatest improvement was noted in the functioning of the kidneys. They were virtually normal.

Reach Altitude Of 39,000 Feet

Two Army Fliers Bring Down Account of a Condition Above the Clouds Which Meteorologists Long Have Suspected.

Darton, Ohio, Feb. 13 (AP).—Two army fliers in an old army plane reached an unofficial altitude of 39,000 feet from Wright Field yesterday, and brought down with them an account of a condition above the clouds which meteorologists long have suspected but never have been able to prove.

The fliers, Lieutenant Johnson and Captain W. A. Stevens, pilot and photographer, were forced down by depleted fuel at Norton Field, Columbus, Ohio.

The instruments attached to the plane, used in many test and altitude flights, indicated that they reached on altitude out-reaching the record of 35,426.5 feet held by Lieutenant C. C. Campion, of the United States Navy.

No record was claimed because rules of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale prescribe that the plane land at the field from which it left the earth.

The two fliers blamed their failure to establish a record for a two-man plane on another phenomenon of the air: excessive visibility.

"The ordinary horizon line when flying is between seven and eight thousand feet," they explained. "After we got above the clouds of ice we couldn't see the ground and the horizon line above must have been at least 50,000 feet—and we didn't know where we were."

After they had reached the pinnacle of their flight, Johnson and Stevens were flying in a temperature of 76 degrees below zero. They looked below and saw what appeared to be billows of ice crystals, hung in midair and resembling the formations of a cave.

The aviators described the spectacle as a dazzling sight, with the light rays broken by the fragile crystals into all the colors of the spectrum. In order to verify this seeming mirage of the heavens they dipped again and again into the crystals, and Lieut. Johnson, to make more certain, removed a glove and struck his bare hand from the cockpit. It was pierced as though by a thousand needles. Not satisfied, Capt. Stevens exposed part of his face, and today he bore a huge blister on one cheek as a souvenir.

Captain Stevens made several pictures of the flight but the results are in doubt. Exhaust from the engine fouled the lens several times, and a thick blanket of snow which covered the territory over which they flew made his photographs of little value in studying the earth from the great height.

The aviators plan another flight within a short time, when they expect to establish a record. Two important changes in their plane and their equipment will be made first. Exhaust pipes from the engine will be extended along the fuselage to carry the fumes beyond the cockpit, for one thing, and the other improvement is development of electrically heated goggles, which served until the lowest temperature was reached, when they became foggy.

The goggles were pronounced the best used in altitude flights so far, however. They functioned at a temperature of 60 degrees below zero. More coils are to be added to provide greater heat.

The cockpit is padded against the cold. Liquid oxygen, vaporizing against the face was used for breathing past an altitude of 20,000 feet. The men also were equipped with electrically heated gloves.

Levitas Must Pay Johnson $297.88

For Work Done on Tennis Court and For Carting and Cleaning—Verdict For Full Amount Returned.

The action brought by George W. Johnson against Dr. S. T. Levitas to recover for work done on a tennis court on the Levitas property together with certain charges for carting and cleaning up debris about the premises was concluded Tuesday in county court and later in the day a verdict for plaintiff in the full amount $297.88 was returned.

The action was an appeal from city court. Defendant asked through a counter claim $350 damages claiming that through improper construction of the tennis court he had been damaged to that amount. Defendant alleged a contract with plaintiff claiming that the price had been $200 for the court and he also alleged that the plaintiff had stated he knew how to properly construct a court. The plaintiff in his complaint claimed that there was no contract but that the work was done at day wages under the instruction of Dr. Levitas. Plaintiff claimed a total bill of $461.55 and alleged that payments had been made by check and by merchandise which reduced the amount due to $297.88. This amount with interest from October 31, 1927 was awarded plaintiff by the jury. Maurice W. Etkine and Frank W. Brooks appeared for the plaintiff and John W. Eckert for the defendant.

An action, Charles Slutsky against Abraham Miller, an appeal from justice's court, was announced as settled. LeRoy Lounsberry for plaintiff and Cleon B. Murray for defendant.

Eminent Mexicans Are Threatened

Second Signed Statement of President Huerta Financially Sound Against His Life.

Mexico City, Feb. 13 (AP).—Bombing and kidnapping plots today threatened some of the most prominent figures in Mexican public life and caused heavy police guards to be placed about their homes.

Against this background there appeared in today's newspapers a second signed statement of President Emilio Portes Gil saying the government was convinced that "exalted fanatical (Roman) Catholics" were responsible for the attempt made against his life Sunday.

Deportation of a Swede, an Italian, and a consul of Bolivia were ordered, after expression of pro-Catholic sentiments.

Three more bombs were discovered in the offices and homes of other prominent Mexicans, whose names were not revealed. Police have made no arrests in connection with the bomb found in the offices of Governor Aaron Saez of Nuevo Leon Sunday night.

President Portes Gil, former President Calles, and other prominent Mexicans have received threats against their lives similar in appearance to threats received by General Obregon prior to his assassination. Police headquarters has revealed.

Those to President Calles threatened kidnapping of his daughter, Ernestina, who is Mrs. T. A. Robinson, wife of an American. Although Senator Calles and his daughter laughed at them a heavy police guard surrounded their homes today.

The president's new statement charging complicity of Catholic Church elements in the plot against him read: "Newspapers, commenting on the outrage against the presidential train, make it appear of political origin, perhaps desirous thus to avoid unfavorable criticism of Catholic elements."

"I must express my opinion that there is not the slightest proof leading to a belief that the outrage was of a political nature and still less to think that a political group or party inspired it."

"On the contrary, both in view of documents found at the site of the wreck and subsequent investigations, the government is convinced that the material authors of the outrage are elements which undoubtedly obeyed exalted fanatical Catholics."

BOY BURGLAR CARRIES A GUN AND HAS A GANG

Chicago, Feb. 13 (AP).—Twelve-year-old Joe Dowling, who carries a gun and has a gang, told police today he had taken part in 150 burglaries since he was nine years old.

When arrested last night as he was offering a $100 diamond ring for sale for $5, Dowling had a loaded pistol in his pocket, a flashlight and a ring of keys. Two boys, one nine, the other 13, were arrested at the same time, but Dowling told police they had been on only three "jobs" and were "amateurs."

He was asked about the pistol, "I got it from a gun," said the boy, who is small for his years. "Suppose the cops caught me, and I had a chance to shoot it out with them? I've had lots of guns. Some I got in flats. One time me and a kid named Coughlin—he's doing a stretch now—stole a car and drove to Gary, Ind., and bought two shot guns from a guy. On the way back Coughlin took a shot at a farmer in a field and knocked his hat off."

Police said they had verified several of the burglaries to which the boy confessed.

GENERAL PERSHING WILL REMAIN INDOORS.

Paris, Feb. 13 (AP).—General John J. Pershing will remain indoors for a few days as a precaution against a relapse after a slight attack of grip which kept him in his cabin during most of his transatlantic trip, ended yesterday.

He then will begin his work in connection with the commission to provide battle monuments in France, which he expects to keep him in France for some time.

On his arrival here yesterday the former A. E. F. Chief had thrown off the unwelcome visitation sufficiently to deal roundly with reporters who sought to draw from him an expression regarding cruiser strength, reparations, and the like. He told them they were wasting their time, as he never talked on current events.

Contract Action On Trial.

In county court this morning Case No. 7 was taken up for trial, being an appeal from justice's court growing out of a contract. The plaintiff is Max Jacobson and Samuel Van Kleeck defendants. The case involves a claim arising out of an automobile deal. Arthur E. Zwig is attorney for the plaintiff, with Chris Flanagan of counsel; and Frank W. Brooks for defendant.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Sauergeries Manufacturing Company, held in the village of Sauergeries, the following were elected as directors: Charles A. Spaulding, John A. Snyder, G. D. Hasbrouck, Spencer L. Dawes, Charles H. Lamb, D. N. Mathews, Howard Gillespie. The inspectors of election were E. B. Styles and Elizabeth Gleason.

Trouble Over a Tuxedo and Watch

Ray G. Hogan of Newburgh Had the Tuxedo and Carl Ange of Poughkeepsie the Gold Watch—Both Cases Settled—Other Police Court Cases.

This morning two cases were brought to the attention of Judge Shufeldt in police court in which figured a tuxedo suit and a gold watch, and in both cases satisfactory adjustments were made by those who had obtained the watch and suit and the cases were withdrawn by the complainants.

Carl Ange of Poughkeepsie was arrested in that city on Tuesday afternoon by Sergeant Phinney on a warrant sworn out by Grace Mac Carl of 79 Greenhill avenue, who said that last July she gave her gold watch to Ange to take to the jeweler for repairs, but that Ange had retained possession of the watch.

This morning Ange was unable to produce the watch but made restitution in the sum of $25 and the charge of petit larceny was withdrawn.

Ray G. Hogan of Newburgh, arrested on a charge of petit larceny, also made a satisfactory adjustment with A. W. Mollott, of whom he had obtained a tuxedo suit, agreeing to return it the first of the year, but had failed to do so, and the charge of petit larceny against Hogan was also withdrawn.

Owing to the fact that Attorney Chris J. Flanagan was busy with a case in county court an adjournment was taken in the case of James Gallagher, who was arrested several days ago on a charge of disorderly conduct on lower Broadway. The hearing was adjourned to February 20.

It was stated in court today that Frank Koubout had withdrawn the charge of assault in the third degree that he had lodged against Edward McDonough and the defendant was discharged.

Six Youths Stole Some Bottled Beer

Entered Louis's Place at 173 Abel Street Last Friday Night and Left With Bottled Goods—All Six Confess and Are Given Suspended Sentences.

Last Friday night six youths, all of them under 20 years of age, decided that they would like some bottled beer and they went over to what they called Louis's place at 173 Abel street, where they obtained entry and helped themselves to bottled refreshments. The six youths were placed under arrest Tuesday afternoon by the police and the case came up for a hearing in police court this morning when the charge of burglary was modified to disorderly conduct and all six pleaded guilty and were sentenced to 20 days each in the county jail, but the serving of the sentences was suspended by Judge Shufeldt.

The six youths were James Kiernan of 5 Post street; Arthur Peck of 61 Hasbrouck avenue; Leo Leski of 42 Ravine street; Harry and Augustus Albrecht of 52 Ravine street, and Charles Freer of 20 Ravine street.

Friday evening about 11:25 o'clock while Officer Ernest Boss was walking through Abel street on his way home he met three youths, Leski and the two Albrechts, who were carrying a basket. When they saw the officer they dropped the basket on the sidewalk and fled. The basket contained 16 bottles of beer.

SIX DEAD, SCORE HURT, AS RESULT OF MARCH GRAS

New Orleans, Feb. 13 (AP).—Mardi Gras glittered and sparkled in New Orleans yesterday but not without its toll. Six persons dead and more than a score injured, some seriously, were left in the path of Rex, Carnival's King, when the supreme monarch departed upon the royal yacht for his distant "palace." Three whites died in traffic accidents. Three negro celebrators died in gun battles.

Undertaker Called.

Victor Lasher, village undertaker, was the first witness called. He knew Byron Snyder all his life. He was called in on the death of Mr. Snyder on January 13 at about 9 o'clock in the evening. He found Mr. Snyder in the bed room. During his professional services he examined the injuries which were visible. Very shortly after his arrival Dr. Downer came and conducted an examination to determine the extent of the injuries. Dr. Downer told Mr. Lasher that he had not been able to make any extended examination before due to the serious condition of Mr. Snyder.

Mr. Lasher said that Mr. Snyder was outwardly quite badly bruised. During the examination he learned that Mr. Snyder's nose was broken and there was a large bruise on the left arm from the shoulder to the elbow. The right shoulder was also somewhat bruised and Dr. Downer's examination also disclosed several ribs on the left side broken and also some on the right side but the injuries seemed to be more severe on the left side.

Mr. Lasher testified that he first heard of the injuries to Mr. Snyder on the Monday following the date of the injuries. That was on January 7 while at Firemen's Hall where a meeting had been held. George Neher said his wife had come to the hall and asked him to go to the Snyder home and assist in moving Mr. Snyder from one room to another. Mrs. Neher said her husband was wanted at the Snyder home to assist in moving him and that Mr. Snyder had been injured in some way. At that time he did not know how or when.

So far as he knew no notice was given the local authorities of the matter at that time. He gave no such notice.

The day following the death of Mr. Snyder, Mr. Lasher said he was present when the doctors performed an autopsy. He saw the broken ribs.

Mr. Lasher said he did not know of anyone reporting the case to the District Attorney, Sheriff or Coroner although he heard that the case had been reported to the State Troopers and that an investigation was being made before Snyder died.

Having known Mr. Snyder all his life Mr. Lasher was asked if he knew of any of Snyder's friends with whom he might be liable to visit. He said he did not know of any and he did not think Mr. Snyder was accustomed to wander about the village premises. He was of a quiet nature and he was usually to be found at home.

Vincent Avery Was Home.

Vincent Avery was next called. He said he knew Snyder for three or four years. He said he drove a Chrysler car, a sedan, but he had laid his car up before the first of the year and had not secured 1929 license plates. His car was at Cash-dollars' garage. He said he had not driven any other car in some time although he had a chauffeur's license. His Chrysler was equipped with balloon tires of the Fisk make. They were the original tires. On the evening of January 6, witness said he had been home all evening. He was not out in a car that day. He said he was employed on a farm toward Saugerties from Woodstock but resided with his folks on the mountain road about 10 minutes time out of the village. His father and sister were at home on January 6. He said he had heard of the injuries sustained by Mr. Snyder prior to his death but could not remember who told him.

The witness said he had made no statement as to who Mr. Snyder was nor had he expressed any opinion as to who might be responsible. (Continued on Page Two)

Europe's Cold Moving West

France and England Now Included in the Zone of Arctic Weather—
Very Cold and Heavy Snowfall Predicted—Deaths Continue to Increase.

London, Feb. 12 (AP).—Westward shifting of Europe's Arctic blanket today added France and England to the extreme sufferers from cold unprecedented in continental weather records. Deaths on the continent

"Very cold" was the forecast for the British Isles for the next 24 hours. In France there was a heavy snowfall, even along the sunny Riviera, and it was feared the Marne and Seine would freeze over.

Continued distress was reported from Germany, Holland, Scandinavia, Austria and the Balkan countries. There was a lessening in the severity of the weather in Constantinople, however, and the mitigation was gradually spreading westward and offered the promise of relief there.

Warsaw, Poland, reported an entire kypsy band of 34 men, women and children, frozen to death in their camp near Lublin, while the Daily Express printed today a Vienna dispatch relating that a pack of 100 wolves attacked a school at Javina and killed 16 children, two soldiers and four gendarmes. Seven persons died at Antwerp. Although an accurate estimate of casualties is impossible it is certain they will run into hundreds.

Rivers were frozen over today, sea channels obstructed, steamers, ferries and cargo boats alike frozen in, and communications over all of continental and insular Europe disrupted.

The lower part of the Thames estuary displayed piles of ice hummocks, although the river was free of ice at London. Heavy snowfalls were predicted to reach those in Wales and South Scotland, which were already snow and ice bound.
At Stranraer, Scotland, where many steamers start for Belfast, train service ceased Monday morning.
Snowplows attempted to clear the tracks where drifts were piled 12 feet deep.

Paris shivered this morning in a temperature of five degrees above zero Fahrenheit. Eastern France was experiencing weather well under zero Fahrenheit. The weather bureau predicted continued severe cold for as long as a week.

The chain channels of the Seine and Marne were free of ice, although their backwaters in Paris and vicinity were frozen over. Should the cold continue the rivers themselves are expected to freeze. In eastern France the Meuse and smaller rivers as well as canals were frozen.

Considerable damage was done to agriculture in France and early sowings were destroyed.

The cold in England and the wide scope of the frigid wave and the consequent large amount of space required to cover the news, has caused London newspapers to devote only sentences and paragraphs to phrases of the storm which would set columns under other conditions.

Berlin had alarming reports of 20 vessels frozen in the western Baltic, some without food and others badly damaged by ice. Airplanes were dispatched with food supplies.
Drives of wild boats attacked villagers in southern Belgium. A CLASSIC ART deliberately utilized in motor car design

NOTE how the dynamic symmetry of Chrysler fender contours and wheel spokes the very essence of life and motion, just as do their counterparts in the "tower border" of the classic masterpieces of architecture and design.

THAT Chrysler motor cars are so different in appearance from all other motor cars is not to be wondered at in view of the unique plan by which their remarkable beauty has been attained.

Chrysler engineers recognized, as no others had recognized, that true beauty in automobile design must come, not from a chance inspiration of individual designers, but from a conscious and deliberate plan.

Guided by glorious precedents in art, architecture and design, they applied the authentic forms of beauty which have come down the centuries unchallenged and unsurpassed and translated them into terms of motor car utility and beauty.

It is because Chrysler style and beauty have this secure artistic foundation that they have won the admiration and enthusiasm of thousands upon thousands the country over.

"Helplessly alone"...

a place for a used car

A YOUNG WIFE who lives in a newly developed section said: "My husband is a newspaper man and works at night. He works in the city and drives in and out. That leaves me helplessly alone, and I wish desperately that I had a car to get about in. I should like to go to the movies or call on friends, but the car-line is quite a long walk from the house and I have to depend on the friends who may call for me."

Every year more and more families are finding that the used cars sold by General Motors dealers make it possible to own a second or third car at very low cost.
Used cars are opportunities in unused transportation, and

Over to Study Economic Changes

Beach, Feb. 12 (AP).—The economic changes, as viewed by the committee headed by President Herbert Hoover, were for consideration by Mr. and four members of the committee at a conference at pre-inauguration headquarters this morning. The committee's findings as to the changes and developments in the economy are to be presented by Albert W. Shaw of Chicago. The other members of the party were Edward E. C. Washington, D. C., Clarence Miller, New York City, and Mr. Miller, Washington. They are representing the other members of the committee of thirty which was named to investigate and report on the situation. Shaw called at the Belle Isle of Mr. Hoover for a short conference yesterday, after Mr. Hoover's departure by automobile from the celebration of Thomas A. Edison at Fort Myers. Mr. Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Richard of New York, who accompanied the president-elect to the celebration, remained on the ship, and reported by telegram last night that they headed for the open sea for a trip around the Florida Keys to Key West. The boat was expected to reach port tonight. Hoover's plans after the conference this morning were indefinite, but he was expected to spend part of his time in clearing up correspondence.

He urged the cooperation of the parents in any definite weakness, disclosed by the school medical examination, for curative treatment by the physician. The members of P. T. A. are looking forward to the work on mental hygiene which Crispell will give in the near future.

Big Saving in Farm Taxes

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (Special).—The estate taxpayers in Ulster county would save $2,435.144 in the next ten years, if the program of Governor Roosevelt's agricultural advisory commission is adopted, compared with the present tax of 1.5 cents a gallon gasoline tax, Mark county state tax commissioner, told a large audience at the Farm and Home Week meeting at Cornell University, Ithaca, today.

It is estimated that real estate in 10 counties outside of New York would be relieved of taxes in the year period to the extent of $46,000,000, an average of $14,000 a year.

On the same basis of calculation, Ulster county would save $2,435.144, Delaware, $1,637,363; Monroe, $1,630,645, and Sullivan, $1,701,622.

"The beauty of this program," says told his audience, "is that it gives real property, that it equalizes the cost of constructing and maintaining the state highway system and the bridges therein, it provides substantial assistance to the counties for the development of secondary or lateral system of highways, and finally equalizes the burden of school taxes for one, two, three and four teacher schools."

"It is not," he added, "a purely and relief measure. It will benefit every real property taxpayer."

Another by Dr. A. Farmer, home owner, merchant, manufacturer of public utility owner in any one of the 10 counties outside of New York, city, and, indirectly, it will benefit every taxpayer of the greater city.

Emphasizing that tax equalization is just and proper, Graves added that the gradual shift of population from rural to urban centers and the development of the state as an industrial empire in itself has brought shifts in wealth, causing the tax-paying ability of some sections to decrease, others to increase. But the true burden of taxation has increased more rapidly in rural communities than in urban centers.

Adoption of the gas tax, he pointed out, will not be the counties during the next decade approximately $60,000,000 to be applied to the construction of a secondary or lateral system of highways without imposing an additional heavy burden upon real property.

Regarding the gasoline tax, Graves considered it no more than a right considering that the state and its localities are spending, annually, more than $250,000,000 for construction and maintenance of streets and highways. Toward this vast sum the motorist public is annually contributing about $25,000,000. This sum, Graves declared, is not as large as the motorist should pay.

About Town In New York

(By Gladys Reed.)
Sold For Van Dusen.

My friend and I were very happy one particular evening. We were going to see Walter Hampden in "Cyrano de Bergerac". We arrived up town much too early. I had just commenced to rain and we were looking for a place of shelter. A place where we would spend the extra hour in comfort. As we pondered, an open door in the middle of the street looked very inviting. We glanced in. A crowd of people were standing about, listening to a man behind a counter, who was actually yelling to them. Curiosity forwarded us on and we entered. We discovered it to be an auction room. We were practically the only women inside; the men who were present were the queerest types I have ever seen. Of course they all glanced and stared at us, but after finding a place to stand by, we became used to the crowd and the loud speaker.

We were astonished to see the most precious jewels sold at such ridiculously low prices. The auctioneer raised his arm which held a beautiful platinum watch studded with diamonds and also a bracelet set with precious stones. He passed these treasures to the by-standers. We both scrutinized them closely and being ignorant of the entire business, marvelled at their beauty. A man in the audience started the bid with $5.00. We were actually petrified, but retained our silence. Suddenly Helen, my friend, in her little sweet voice, cried out $7.00. I was speechless. Another man yelled $9.00. Helen, $10.00; I finally regained my voice and pleaded with her to refrain as we had no intention of purchasing, both being penniless.

"Why," she said, "it is impossible for them to sell them at this low figure." No one yelled any more. Silence reigned. It seemed deathly still for a while. Suddenly the loud speaker yelled to us: "Young lady, come here and get your jewels." We did not move. He called again. I heard my friend's voice reply, rather meekly. "Mister, I was only helping you. I have not the money to buy them." We heard giggling everywhere. The auctioneer glared at us, and in a sharp and piercing tone, belittled: "You had better leave this room. We don't need your help." We did not move. I hoped the floor would open and swallow me. It didn't. Again the auctioneer spoke. "I don't want you young ladies to bid again." We did not. And the first chance we had, we sneaked out.

A Broken Sleep. We all have some special nickname for Monday. Some call it "Blue Monday," some "Lazy Day," others call it "Wash Day," but to me it is "Sleep Day." On that day I can sleep from morn till night. Last Monday in the office was not unusual for me. I was as sleepy as ever. When the officials are away I manage to snatch a nap on one of the chairs. If I had my way, I wouldn't ever come to the office on Monday. I believe that every one needs an extra day of rest following Sunday.

It was exactly 2 p. m. at the office and only Miss N. and myself were in charge. I took the last of my opportunity and decided to continue my nap. Miss N., who was just behind the curtain, closed the door of her apartment to me. "Here, take the keys," she said, "and rest in my apartment for a while. No one is coming back this afternoon. 212 15th street, second door, rear." I did not hesitate for a moment, but dashed away. When I reached the house, I had difficulty in opening the front door; but after a little fumbling, it unlocked. I flew up the two flights of stairs, unlocked the door and dropped on the couch. Before I dozed off, I had time to glance about and noticed that it was a beautifully furnished apartment. It rather surprised me to find it so lavishly decorated; Miss N. always spoke of it very modestly. Sleep took possession of me soon and off I went into dreamland.

I had a peculiar dream which puzzled me then. I was wandering in a beautiful garden with the most unusual pools. Pools as clear as crystal. I looked into the pools and saw my happy reflection, saw trees too, laden with oranges, peaches, apricots and various other edible fruits. What impressed me most as I looked at them was the fact that each fruit had a face of a person smiling. The flowers which were extraordinary in size had the faces of animals, such as cats, dogs, squirrels and rabbits. While wandering through this strange and yet fascinating garden, I seemed very happy and actually flew about.

My dream was interrupted. Some one on the floor above dropped something which sounded like an iron safe. I noticed that it was near five so I hurriedly dressed and returned to the office, well rested. The following week Miss N. gave a little party at her apartment. I offered to help her. We both left the office together, bought some food, and walked toward her apartment. She stopped at 312 15th street.

"Where are you going?" I asked. "To my apartment," she replied. "It was only after entering an apartment I had never seen before that I realized my mistake."

Why Policemen Whistle. I possess an automobile. Some people think me very fortunate. Perhaps I am. At times I doubt it. Most of the time I am quite certain that I am not. I am always in some trouble because of that vehicle.

It is a large sedan. I should have purchased a little roadster. Just for two. As it is, I feel guilty driving about either alone or with a friend. The rest of the family and friends think it a waste of gas for the car to be operated with the rear seats empty. So every time I bring the car to the door, they all pile in and I become just the chauffeur.

Driving a car for three or four people who know nothing about driving, but try to tell you just how to do it, is maddening. One evening I took the family out driving and had to make numerous stops. I was in a hurry to get back home and keep an urgent appointment, so naturally I "stayed on the gas." The streets were not familiar but I remembered some of the turns I made going there, and trusted my memory on our way back.

Suddenly I heard a shrill whistle which sounded familiar to me. I stopped, wondering what it was all about. I did not feel guilty of breaking any rules or regulations of the Police Department. The officer walked up to me and asked me where I was going. I was not in a very pleasant mood, and being in a hurry, I refused him, answering him politely.

"Why should I interest you?" I replied. "Because you don't want to go there," he told me. "But, officer, I know where I want to go." "Perhaps you do," he replied, "but you don't want to go there. I was getting real angry and told him to stop 'bawling' me. He laughed. "Officer, if this is just a joke, please stop; I have had enough of it, and as I am in a hurry, I would be obliged if you will let me go." "Well, young lady, I'll tell you why you don't want to go down this street. This is a one way street and you are going the wrong way." This is just one instance I can tell you dozens.

Some were.

Old Form of Fun. The name "where play" was invented by the Puritans in Colonial days as they objected to the name "Christ-mas play." Under the name "mutton game," similar plays were known in England as early as 1520. Later, as mutton was substituted for mutton and then chopped beef took its place. Otherwise, the ingredients have remained about the same.

Chandlers and Y's Men Win In Extra Period

The Chandlers defeated Yonkers 23 to 26 after playing an extra period of five minutes at the Y. M. C. A. court Tuesday night. The locals were ahead at the end of the first quarter and half by one point but when the third quarter came around the "Y" representatives took up the lead which they held until the last few minutes of the game when the score was tied at 26 all. In the extra period the Chandlers gathered seven points while Yonkers failed to find the hoop for a tally.

To "Pop" Hinds goes most of the credit of the Y's Men's win over the Yonkers B team. Hinds didn't enter the game until the last few minutes. In this short time plus the five minute extra period he sunk three field goals. The score was 26 all at the end of the game and there was but a minute or so of the extra period yet to be played with Yonkers leading, 40 to 35. This was when Hinds talked to his team in the lead and win the game 41 to 40.

The Chandlers had one tough battle with the Yonkers quintet. The game was close all the way, neither team getting a margin of more than four points on the score. There was but little scoring done in the first period. Kennedy and Dulin made fouls as Fox scored a deuce. This ended the Chandlers' scoring done in the first quarter. The local "Y" team held the lead most of the time in the opening session but just before the whistle Acropolis and Archer both found the hoop from scrimmage. This set the Chandlers' back a step. The quarter ended with Yonkers in front, 5 to 4.

In the first minutes of the second quarter the Chandlers again took the lead when Fox sunk a deuce which made the score 6 to 5. It was now that the Chandlers got their four point lead. Kennedy made a foul and Fox again found the hoop for a two-pointer. The score was now 9 to 5 in the local's favor. The lead soon faded when Wieman and Pearson scored from scrimmage and the tally was tied at 9 points. After this the Chandlers again broke loose and before Yonkers knew it the locals had taken up the lead and held it by four points. The lead resulted from shots made by Kennedy and Hoffman. Fox was the only Chandler man that scored after this while the Yonkers team rolled up six marks. The half ended with the Chandler quintet still behind by a point, 16 to 15.

The third quarter saw some action. Both teams played hard and displayed splendid basketball ability in fighting for the upper hand. There was a little change made in the Chandlers. Krum took up Kennedy's position at pivot man and McLane took Dulin's position at guard. It was in the early stages of this quarter that Krum had a little individual rally. He found the hoop twice from scrimmage and once from the foul line. This gave the Chandlers the leading position once more, 20 to 16. From then on the Chandlers held the lead. Fox scored from scrimmage after Krum. The locals drive for points ended and Yonkers began to find the hoop. It was then that they came within a point of stepping in front, but Fox's deuce saved things again and the Chandlers were in the lead, 24 to 23, as the third quarter ended.

In the last quarter the Chandlers gathered two points while Yonkers collected three. In the extra period there was more scoring done than in the last quarter. The score was 26 all when the teams went on the court to play off the tie. Niles who failed to find the hoop for a score in the earlier part of the game, now came through with a deuce in the time of need. Dulin also ran down the court and sank one left-handed from the side of the court. Fox wasn't through scoring for he again found the rim from scrimmage and later dropped the leather through the hoop from the fifteen-foot penalty line. The Chandlers captured the game, 28 to 26.

The Y's Men also captured an overtime game from the Yonkers B team, the final score being 41 to 40. At the close of the regular periods the score was deadlocked at 37 points. "Pop" Hinds was the hero of the night, registering twice from scrimmage in the extra session. McDowell for the winners and Fordman for the losers, shared the scoring honors with 12 points each.

News of the Day
In Wall Street

New York, Feb. 13 (AP).—Wall Street expects the movement by the Federal Reserve bank to have an effect in reducing speculative loans. In view of the recent action of the Federal Reserve bank against speculative loans, some of the tighter margin requirements as indicated of a desire to co-operate in solving credit problems.

Domestic soft coal production in the week ended February 9 is estimated by the National Coal Association to have exceeded 12,000,000 tons for the first time since March, 1927. In the previous week the output totalled 11,675,000 tons.

Stockholders of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company are offered rights to subscribe to additional common stock at $50 a share in ratio of three shares for each 10 held. Rights are worth about $14 at Monday's closing price of $128.

Shipments of refined copper in January reached a record total of 157,183 tons, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reports. This compares with 134,592 tons in December and 148,942 tons in November. Domestic primary production also set a new high record of $6,681 short tons in January, against $5,577 tons in December and $5,382 tons in November.

ENFORCING LAW ON MILK AND CREAM STANDARD.

Inspectors of the Department of Agriculture and Markets have taken samples of milk and cream in restaurants in a number of cities in the central and western part of the state for the purpose of determining whether the butter fat content is in compliance with the law enacted at the last session of the legislature.

According to reports submitted to Commissioner Berne A. Pyke, in a number of cases it was found that the butter fat was below the 18% standard fixed by the law. Commissioner Pyke stated that samples would be taken by inspectors throughout the state in this campaign.

Under the law cream must show a total of 18% butter fat. Up to the last session of the legislature it was provided that a mixture of milk and cream must contain 10% butter fat. At the 1928 session this was amended to provide that milk and cream must contain 18% fat.

Kenneth F. Fee, director of the dairy and food bureau of the department, is directing inspectors to disseminate information on this change in the law so that operators of restaurants and others interested may comply with the new provision. Mr.

Fee stated that samples of milk and cream taken in some cities showed a better fat content of as low as five or six per cent. These samples were taken in restaurants. In some cases a mixture of milk and cream and condensed milk was delivered to inspectors who asked for milk and cream. This was below the standard of 18%.

The new law is section 50 of the Agriculture and Markets law, and provides that no person shall sell or offer for sale or exchange any unclean, impure, unwholesome, adulterated or unsatisfactory milk, or any cream from the same; nor sell or offer for sale any substance in imitation or semblance of cream which is not cream. It is further provided that no person shall sell or offer for sale any article of food made from such milk or cream, or manufacture from such milk or cream any article of food; also that "milk and cream" must be a mixture of pure milk and pure cream containing at least 18% of butter fat.

The new law established the same standard for "milk and cream" as for cream. The standards with regard to milk remain the same, being 3% butter fat and total solids of 11.80%.

Some of the samples taken in restaurants in several cities having shown a very low percentage of fat, it is indicated that there may be an extended lack of compliance with the provisions of the new law.

Word of the rescue came after Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had hopped off to join the search for the plane and after naval seaplanes at Pensacola and coast guard boats had begun preparations to look for the amphibian.

Financial and Commercial
New York, Feb. 13 (AP).—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment in today's stock market testified to the nervousness prevailing in professional quarters as a result of recent adverse credit developments. The market opened with a surprising outburst of strength, turned reactionary around noon and then darted upward again in the early afternoon when the call money rate was lowered from 7 1/2 to 6 per cent.
Opening strength reflected the failure of the New York Federal Reserve Board directors to make any announcement regarding the special meeting after the close on Monday.
The mid-day selling was inspired largely by the recommendation of one of the large commission houses to sell stocks on the rally on the theory that a readjustment as drastic as that of March, 1926, was in prospect. The subsequent recovery undoubtedly was influenced by the easing of money rates.
While the New York Federal Reserve Bank made no announcement of its meeting, the rise in bankers' acceptances today was construed as an indication that the bank was withdrawing from the bull market and throwing the burden of financing discount instruments on the banks, presumably in the hope that it would bring about a reduction in brokers' borrowing. In view of the sharp decline in prices last week, a substantial reduction in loans is looked for in the weekly statement tomorrow.
The day's business news was largely favorable in character. Iron Age reported that "production is sustained, following January records in both pig iron and steel output, and prices of rolled steel are gaining in strength." New stock of the National Sugar Refinery Company was placed on a $2 annual basis, equivalent to $8 on the old stock, which paid $7 annual dividend.
Directors of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation are expected to resume dividend at Friday's meeting. Wall Street expects a payment of 75 cents, but 25 cents of this may be classified as an extra. All the leading sugar refiners reduced prices one-fifth of a cent a pound.

Snyder Inquest Discloses Little
He said he had not seen Mr. Snyder for a couple of months prior to his death and did not see him on the evening it is alleged the accident happened.
Board Statements.
Cecil Chickener was called. He had known Mr. Snyder 20 years. He had known Mr. Snyder in December, when he had some business with him. He said he had not seen Snyder on January 6. He said he had not formed or expressed any opinion as to how the injuries might have been inflicted. He said he had heard a number of statements in regard to how the accident might have happened, the whole town had talked about the matter.
He said he had heard two or three types of statements from various sources as they were circulated in the village but he had no knowledge or had heard no rumor as to who might be responsible for the injury.
He advanced a theory that some resident of Rock City who had been out on a late party might have hit him and not known of the accident. After someone else might have come along and saw Snyder on the road and picked him up and taken him home and not realized that he was seriously injured. He said he knew of several people who sometimes remain out late at parties but he knew of no party on the night of January 6. He had been told that there was a party at Miss Bartlett's that night but he had no knowledge of it. He had also talked to some people about another party that night, but he had since learned that it was on a previous week end. The only party he knew of and of that he was not sure and that was the Bartlett party which was only a rumor. He said he believed this lady lived in Woodstock and worked in Kingston.
He said he had heard various people mention several names of people who might have caused the injuries. In all perhaps six or eight names were mentioned, possibly more. Some he said were prominent and of some wealth and others were not prominent. He said he had no clue as to who the guilty party might be. So far as he knew the authorities had run down all clues and he said in view of these facts he did not want to make any statements or express any opinion.
Did Not Want to Change Statements.
Clement Wilson was called. He had previously testified at Woodstock on the first hearing. He said he did not want to change any of his previous statements and he had not changed his mind about any facts previously testified to. After supper on January 6 at about 7:10 he had been home until about 7:15, when he went to his store diagonally across the road where he went to figure up National Biscuit Company bill. He said he had no appointment in the store that night and after figuring up the bill he left about 7:40 or 7:45 and went home. He saw nothing unusual or anyone pass. He did not notice the glasses or rubber as he went home. He did not see deceased that afternoon or evening and he had no appointment to meet anyone at the store. He could not recall seeing Stanley Longyear that afternoon.
Asked when he had decided that the reason he went to the store that night was to figure out a bill, the witness said he had always known it from the time he missed the bill and went to the store to figure it. He said he knew that was the reason on the date of the former hearing and said he had never said he went to the store to fix the fire. He said there was no fire in the store.
The last time he saw Mr. Snyder was on Saturday afternoon when he came into the store for a moment on business and then went out.
He said he had a back room in the store where he stored things but he never held card parties in the room and Mr. Snyder never had played cards there. He was not accustomed to visiting the store except on business and when his business was finished he went out.
While he was in the store figuring the account the witness said he had not heard any noises or the sound of car. He heard no crash, scream or sound of brakes. He did not notice the rubber on the glasses when he went home that night. It was the next day that the articles were found. He said that there was a street light about 75 feet on one side of his store and about 150 feet beyond on the other side.
Saw Mr. Snyder on January 6.
Stanley Longyear was next called. Mr. Longyear conducts a taxi business, real estate office and express service in the village. He lives on the Rock City road about 150 feet from the corner.
He had frequent business with Mr. Snyder who was a notary. Mr. Snyder visited his place frequently. The last time he saw Snyder was on the evening of Sunday, January 6, when the injuries were supposed to have been inflicted. He said Snyder came to his place both day and night. During the previous week he had used Snyder twice, once in the evening and it was about 7 o'clock when Snyder left.
Sunday, the day the injuries were sustained, Snyder visited Mr. Longyear's place. It was a friendly visit. Mr. Longyear said he had gone over to Snyder's home and they talked together for a time. They sat in the Snyder living room with the light on. He also walked through other rooms including the kitchen to examine damage done where a water pipe had leaked. Lights were turned on in various rooms. He had not been to the Snyder bedroom. At 5:25 they left the Snyder home. Mr. Longyear invited Mr. Snyder to come over to his house. He said the time as the bus which leaves at 5:30, was in front of the post office when they left the Snyder home. He could not recall if the light in the kitchen was put out when they left or not.
During their talk Mr. Longyear said Mr. Snyder came over to his house and have a drink of cider. Mr. Snyder replied: "I was just thinking about it", and that was the purpose of the visit to the Longyear residence.

Blank Clerk.
They went to the rear of the Longyear home and down cellar and Mr. Snyder had a glass and a part of another and then they came upstairs and Mr. Snyder left. No one saw them enter or leave the place as they entered the cellar from the rear porch. In all Snyder was at the place from 3 to 5 minutes. Longyear said he did not have any cider then. It had a little "kick" to it. He said Snyder frequently came over and had a glass of cider. He would absolutely not consider Snyder under the influence of alcohol on his departure. Mr. Longyear said he was not in the habit of having cider but when he had it the cider and Snyder went around the corner and down the path was the last he saw him. He did not come back later. So far as he knew Snyder gave no appearance of having had anything to drink before that evening.
The witness said he did not know when or where Snyder crossed the road or if he crossed. It was Snyder's habit to walk on the Longyear side of the street pretty well toward the corner before crossing the street. So far as he could recall Mr. Longyear never saw Mr. Snyder cross over to the Wilson store.
Remaining home during the evening Mr. Longyear's family retired about 9 o'clock. Had there been any unusual noise he would have heard it. He was about the front of the house but heard no brakes on a car, screams or anything struck in the vicinity of his place. He did not awaken that night.
Next forenoon Mr. Wilson called his attention to the marks on the pavement where a tire had scraped the pavement. It ended in front of the Schaeffer store 10 or 15 feet from a telephone pole. It began 50 or 100 feet nearer the corner. The mark was on the left of the center of the road in the direction the car was traveling. He could tell by the mark which way the car was going. He said the marks were five or six inches wide and he had talked of the weight and size of the car which would make such tracks. The marks were nearly straight until a point where the car had stopped near the pole. There the marks showed a twist. The marks were made by a car with four-wheel brakes. The scrape was made by a front wheel which was twisted when the car came to a stop. This mark was in front of the tire in the gravel and was dug down deep. Unless the front wheel had been equipped with a brake it would have been impossible to make such a mark according to the witness. This mark pointed toward the pole. Had the car continued in the direction which the twist indicated the car would have struck the corner of the store had it not stopped.
He testified to seeing a blood spot on the ground and also he was told it was there the rubber and glasses had been picked up. There were no footprints.
In the opinion of the witnesses the front wheel had skidded when the car stopped.
While he was with Mr. Snyder or when they parted he had no conversation as to what Snyder was going to do during the evening or where he was going from the Longyear residence. He had many acquaintances further up the Rock City road but where he had gone on leaving his place he did not know.
The witness said he had no idea why Snyder was in front of the Wilson store that night if it were there that he had been struck. He said he never knew of Snyder going out to card parties where the men played cards and he never had been out to any such parties with Snyder.
Mrs. Longyear Called.
Mrs. Emily Longyear, wife of Stanley Longyear was called. She had not seen Mr. Snyder come for the cider and did not know they were there. After dinner at six they had been about the front of the house for a time and then gone to bed at 9. She did not see Snyder that night. She did not see or hear an automobile pass or any unusual noise until about 11 o'clock when she awakened. She looked at the clock. She heard an employe, Scott Jones, come in and go up to his room. She fell asleep and then she was awakened by the noise of an automobile brake being operated. She heard no motor but there was a woman talking in a loud excited voice. She did not get up or look out. The shades were drawn and she saw no light. The witness said she never heard before. It was a loud loud automobile voice. She could not hear what was said. She heard no other voice. After two or three minutes of this muffled voice ceased an echo went to sleep. She had heard no crash or no scream.

Scott Jones Testifies.
Scott Jones called. He said he had been to Kingston with friends and had visited his mother on Broadway. At 9:15 he left and went to the Van Rensselaer Hotel where Joe Fitzsimmons picked him up. With him were Mrs. Yager, the witness's sister, and Newton Shultz. It was 10:55 when they arrived at Longyear's. He set his watch by the Longyear clock before going to bed. The others went on home. He heard no noise later. Next day he saw the tracks. They appeared to be made by big balloon tires. The tracks ran from the pole at the corner to the Schaeffer store some 90 feet. Near the end of the track at the Schaeffer store the tracks curved and there was gravel thrown over. The track was made by a heavy car with big tires. The dip on the shoulder of the road near the pole was made by a front tire.
He said he had no opinion as to who had struck Snyder and denied that he had ever suggested going over to look at a certain person's car.
He judged the track on the pavement was made by a Firestone tire. The mark could be seen eight or nine feet from the hotel fire escape before the wheels locked. The tracks there were on the Woodstock Hotel side of the street. In his opinion the car had come from the direction of Bearville and either had run on the wrong side of the blinker or jumped the sidewalk on the right side of the blinker. A car traveling in the manner this car must have been to make such wheel marks on the pavement must have been traveling fast. There was no sign of the car jumping the sidewalk and his opinion was the car passed to the wrong side of the blinker as it came from Bearville way.
A recess was taken until the adjourned date when additional witnesses will be sworn.

Leon Trotsky in Constantinople

Constantinople, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Leon Trotsky, former leader of the Red army and an exile because of his opposition to the policies of the present regime in Soviet Russia, has arrived in Constantinople from Russian Turkistan.

Despite the absolute secrecy surrounding his arrival, The Associated Press was assured from an official source that he was aboard the Soviet ship Ilitch which arrived in Constantinople last evening.

The noted Communist, who played so large a part in the establishment of the Communist government in Russia together with Lenin, was traveling under an assumed name and it was many hours before it could be definitely learned that he was on the ship.

The Ilitch remained in the harbor some distance from the quay and Trotsky today was being kept under close guard. There are more than 2,000 white Russians, refugees from Russia, who live in Constantinople and the possibility that one of these might seek revenge upon Trotsky caused these precautions.

It is probable that Trotsky will be placed upon a train leaving from the Asiatic side for Ankara, now the capital of Turkey, tonight.

The arrival of Leon Trotsky in Constantinople clears up the mystery of his whereabouts, which has been puzzling Europe for almost a month. More than a year ago Trotsky was banished to the little town of Alma Ata in Russian Turkistan because of his opposition tactics against the policies of the dominant Stalin group in Russia.

For a time he dropped into complete obscurity, but in recent months there have appeared indications that his opposition campaign was again flaring up and disturbing the central government at Moscow. Trotsky's friends, expressing particular alarm over his health, had sought to have him removed to a more favorable climate fearing that he would die if he remained at Alma Ata.

Last month news was received that the Turkish government had been asked if it would permit Trotsky to enter that country. Immediately a train of rumors spread across Europe that Trotsky was to go to Constantinople and to live there more or less under guard. He did not put in an appearance, however, and rumors then arose that he was to go to Berlin, but the German government gave clear indication that it would not welcome this.

For a time it was reported that Trotsky had been drowned in the sinking of a Russian ship on the Black Sea during violent storms two weeks ago. The ship, however, did not sink, and when it arrived at Constantinople it was stated that Trotsky had never been aboard her. Since then nothing further had been heard concerning the former Red army leader.

Dinner In Honor Of Col. McKay

A dinner in honor of Col. Douglas L. McKay, commander of the American Legion of the state of New York, will be given by the American Legion of Ulster and Greene counties at the Stuyvesant Hotel on the evening of Tuesday, March 5, followed by a reception and dance at the American Legion Memorial Building.

Commander McKay is well-known in Kingston where he resided for some time during the construction of the Ashokan Dam. He organized and commanded the Board of Water Supply Police which were so effective in maintaining law and order in the watershed area during the days when thousands of men were engaged in building the great dam.

Commander McKay, before the war, was also police commissioner of New York city, and is the author of a number of books on criminology and police operations. As state commander of the Empire State, Col. McKay occupies a position in the American Legion second probably to only the national commander. He is a forceful and eloquent speaker and his message to the Legionnaires and auxiliaries of Ulster and Greene counties will be awaited with interest. The dinner will also give Commander McKay's many friends here an opportunity to join with the Legion in doing him honor.

Only 250 tickets for the dinner will be available. There will probably not be enough to supply the demand. These tickets will be sold to Legionnaires and other citizens of the city and county on the basis of "first come, first served."

The county and post commanders of Ulster and Greene will meet at the American Legion Memorial Building here on Friday night to complete the arrangements and to get their supply of dinner tickets which will be issued for the first time on Friday night.
